Results of Operations

After the markets opened the first quarter of the year with a decline from 2017 year-end levels, the second quarter saw them regain much of the ground lost in the first quarter of 2018. At mid-year, before the effects of currency, the S&P 500 Index rose by 2.7%, and the S&P/TSX Composite Index rose by 2.0%. The MSCI EAFE Index went the other way, declining by 2.8%.

Against this background, the Fund recovered most of the ground lost in the first quarter when world bourses retreated by as much as 11% from their January highs. Cash that had been building in the mandate throughout 2017 was deployed in the first quarter, taking advantage of the correction in share prices. The fully invested portfolio participated wholly in the stock market recovery this quarter. The Fund’s return for the six-month period was -0.69% for Series A and -0.13% for Series F. Sectors including energy, information technology and health care were the strongest performers during the period, while weak returns in interest sensitive utilities and telecommunications had a negative impact on performance.

The principal equity indexes are exhibiting an uneven make-up today that reduces their utility as true industry benchmarks. The S&P 500 and the S&P TSX each have a composition characterized by a few heavily weighted industry sectors. For example, in the U.S., Information Technology, although just one of 11 sectors, comprised 26.0% of that ‘broad’ index as at June 30. In Canada, the oil and gas sector made up 20.2% of the S&P TSX index.

Coincidentally, both of these heavy weight sectors have been among the leaders in their respective markets year-to-date. The Fund is positioned to capture more durable growth of earnings and dividends over the longer term, and as such may record investment returns that differ markedly from an industry benchmark. At period end, the Fund had a dividend yield of 3.2% which aims to function as an anchor for stable returns in the future.

This positioning and performance is entirely consistent with the Fund's fundamental investment objective and strategies. The net assets of the Fund decreased slightly to $2.1 million at June 30, 2018 from $2.3 million at June 30, 2017.

There were no unusual changes to the components of revenue and expenses of the Fund and there were no unusual events or transactions, economic changes or market conditions that affected performance beyond what would be reasonably expected

The Fund did not borrow money during the year except for immaterial short term cash overdrafts.

Recent Developments

At mid-year, the U.S. economy continues to look strong. Corporate earnings are being buoyed by lower tax rates and the consumer continues to spend. Many U.S. multinationals are repatriating profits that had been stranded offshore to reinvest stateside. It is ironic that President Trump would choose this particular time to turn insular, and protectionist even, with U.S. trade policies. A full out trade war could derail the economy that is the envy of the world.

The Canadian economic outlook is much less certain. Strength in consumer spending which we have witnessed in recent years is sure to slow, with household debt levels at very elevated levels. Our energy sector continues to be assailed from outside interests as well as internal objectors. Business confidence is shaky, as we attempt to renegotiate NAFTA. Trade issues bear close watching. We expect cooler heads to ultimately prevail, but it may be a bumpy road to conclusion. For now, we are avoiding the Canadian auto, dairy and lumber industries in our portfolio construction. With this background, we expect market volatility to reflect a more normal level than the benign experience of 2017. SEAMARK equities remain tilted to risk-off companies as the best defense for today's uncertainties.

There have been no changes to the Manager or Portfolio Manager, or change of control of the Manager, or of the Fund in the year. There have been no actual or planned reorganizations, mergers or similar transactions.

There were no changes to the membership of the Fund's Independent Review Committee ("IRC").

Notes

* The Fund became a reporting issuer on December 30, 2014 and accordingly prior period numbers are not available.

1 The information is derived from the Fund's unaudited semi-annual and/or audited annual financial statements. All per unit figures presented are referenced to net assets determined in accordance to IFRS.

2 Net assets and distributions are based on the actual numbers of units outstanding at the relevant time. The increase (decrease) in operations is based on the weighted average number of units outstanding over the financial period. This table is not intended to be a reconciliation of beginning to ending net assets per unit.

3 Distributions were paid in cash or reinvested in additional units, or both.

4 This information is provided at the end of the period shown.

5 The management expense ratio is based on the total expenses of the period ended and is expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset values during the period.

6 The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the Fund's portfolio manager manages its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the period. The higher a fund's portfolio turnover rate in a period, the greater the trading costs payable by the fund in the period, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the period. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high turnover rate and the performance of a fund. The portfolio turnover rate is calculated based on the lesser of purchases or sales of securities divided by the weighted average market value of portfolio securities, excluding short term securities.

7 The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period.
